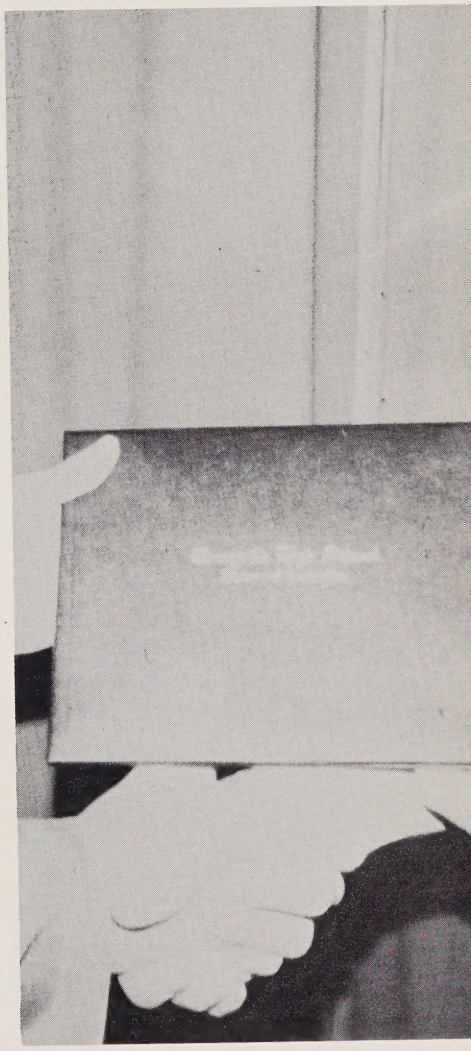
To you, MR. ELLIS B. LYDA, for earnest endeavor and infinite wisdom, for the offer of supreme challenge that aims toward ultimate attainment, and for the "thought of a will to do and a purpose to serve," we dedicate this 1964 WHISPERING PINES.

Indelibly etched upon the memory of every EHS student, the year 1963-64 harbors many fond remembrances. This is the year the Yellow Jacket Eleven romped to an 8-2 record . . . . new lockers, a covered walkway, and additions to the lunchroom and the library were welcome innovations . . . . the student body was literally "fenced in" . . . . Beatlemania converged upon the Edneyville campus, bringing with it a new topic for student discussion . . . . visits to the coke, candy, and ice cream machines became a favorite pastime . . . . school spirit abounded at pep rallies and ballgames, resulting in an "Outstanding Cheerleaders" trophy for Edneyville. It is time for reminiscence and reflection, as EHS students relive, "This is the year that was . . . . that is."

THE YEAR: THE



PEOPLE AND EVENTS

On behalf of the EHS student body, Junior Donald Dalton presents the Yellow Jacket emblem to TIMES-NEWS sports writer Rocky Stone, in appreciation for the excellent coverage of Edneyville sports events.

Determined freshmen confront the perplexing situation posed by unyielding combinations and a three-minute break between classes.

After a Homecoming victory, the refreshment corner is a popular place among exuberant fans and triumphant players.

Examining the exhibits prior to the NASA Demonstration, science enthusiasts marvel at the enormous strides being made in space research .... Occasion: dedication of Data Processing Center at Rosman.

A time-out provides a brief rest period, a few pertinent pointers, and an extra spark of encouragement.

Henderson County's mass immunization entails a lump of sugar and a drop of Sabin vaccine for life-time protection.

Tedious rehearsals . . . costume fittings . . . last-minute memorization . . . and the show must go on! YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

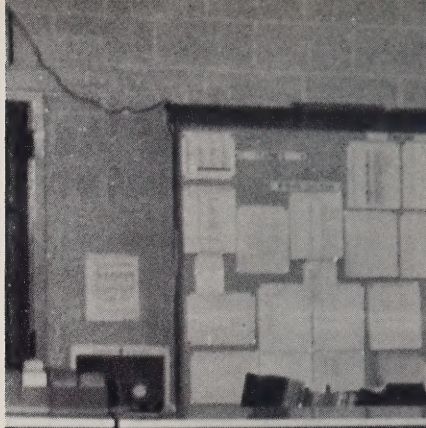
Assimilating, organizing, and reporting result in note-taking and analyzing for the academically-minded.

The morning after the last mid-term!

Overcast skies and the promise of rain fail to dampen the spirits of Edneyville seniors as they set out on another sightseeing jaunt.

Sporting their newly-received prizes, exultant seniors Mickey, Donald, and Johnny exclaim over the successful magazine sales, which skyrocketed to a grand total of $1600.

The flag flies at half-mast, as America pays tribute to our former Chief Executive-President John F. Kennedy.

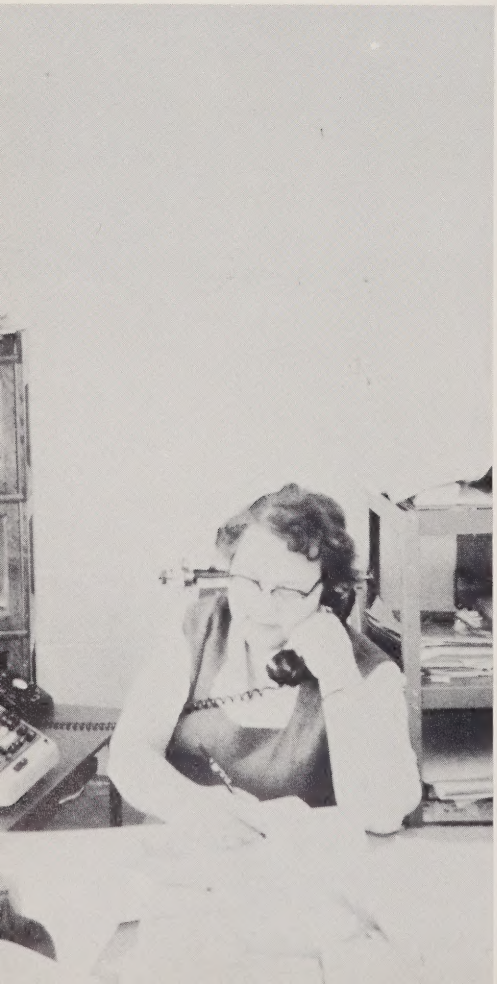


Giving encouragement in the face of failure, reassurance in the face of uncertainty, and inspiration in the face of creativity, a dedicated administration and faculty endeavor to guide the student in his quest for knowledge. The magic of learning is an enveloping thing, urging one to pursue, to discover, to achieve.

A KIND OF MAGIC

IN ADMINISTRATION AND ACADEMICS

Mr. W. J. Nesbitt's experience, wisdom, and continued interest have contributed to Edneyville's progressive development.



In addition to "balancing the books," mailing college transcripts, and attending to general matters of office routine, Mrs. Pearl Pace, school secretary, manages to find time for a telephone message.

Members of the local school board, Tom Oates, Bill Wilson, chairman, and Fred Lyda play an essential role in the operation of Edneyville Schools.

Library Assistants under the direction of Mrs. Lawter and Mrs. Barnwell: Sandra Williamson, Dianne Stepp, Robert Stepp, Barbara Maxwell, Bernadette Levi, Betty Ballard, Judy Newman, Marie Steadman, Sylvia Laughter, Gail Huntley, Nora Moreno, Robert Hemphill, Robert Drake, Lucille Rogers, Grace Drake, Ester May Ruff, Janice Wilson, Carolyn Jackson, Elaine Merrell, Rita King, Sylvia Taylor, Barbara Freeman

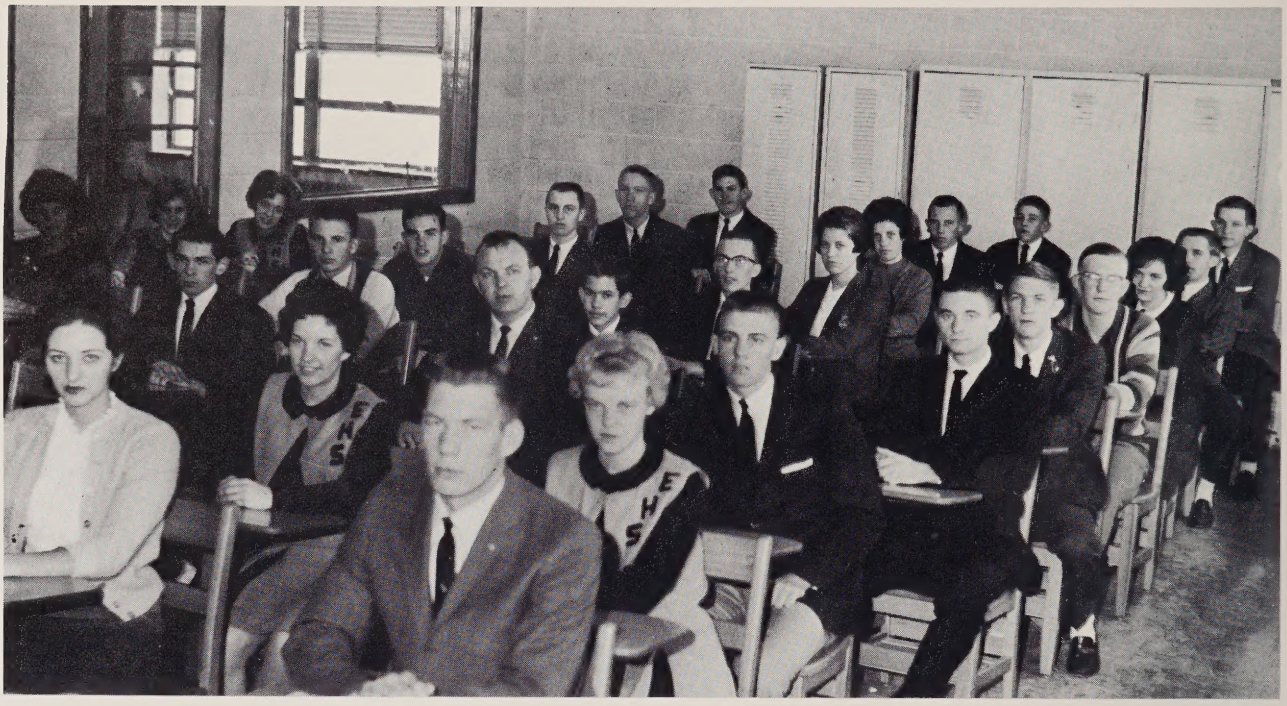
Edneyville—that's security!

A KIND OF MAGIC

Creating a never-ceasing hum of busyness, an aura of excitement, a sense of purpose, the magic of student activity infiltrates the individual, the classroom, and the campus. From the intermingling of worthwhile ideals and objectives evolves a common aim .... PROGRESS.

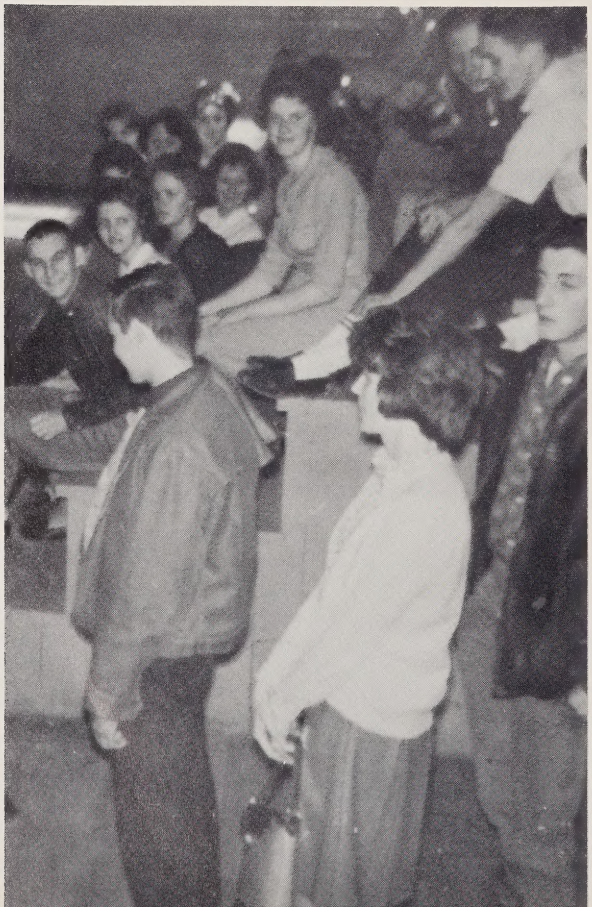
IN ORGANIZATIONS



An integral part of our school is the Student Council under the leadership of Johnny Laughter, President; Katie Dalton, Vice President; Barbara Pryor, Secretary; Patsy Nix, Treasurer; Mr. Lyda, Advisor.

Council stress on student cooperation results in progress

Highest percentage of homeroom enrollment in ballgame attendance pays off in free admission to last home game.



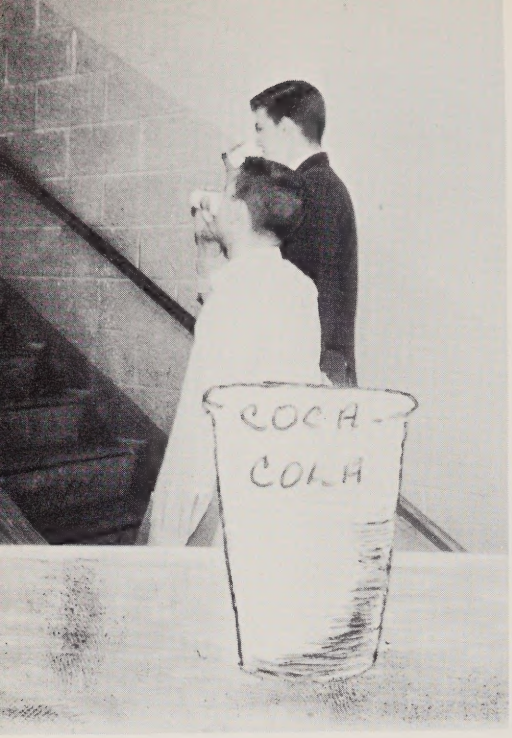
"Tagging" Kenny's car as one from Yellow Jacket territory is merely another method of expressing "We're from Edneyville, couldn't be prouder!"

Ready laughter and elation are only part of the reward, as Beta members prepare to give a chosen family a REAL Thanksgiving.

Preparing to present a special program of music at a local rest home, Betas exemplify their motto, "Let us lead by serving others."

Betas donate time and talent to serve community

Front to Back, FIRST ROW: Brenda Lewis, Lauren Rogers, Bernadette Levi, Carol Glass, Janice Wilson, reporter; Carolyn Jackson, secretary. SECOND ROW: Deanna Barnwell, Nancy Neal, Barbara Pryor, Lewis Lyda, Robert Hemphill, president; Charles Frye, treasurer; John Laughter, vice-president. THIRD ROW: Janet Laughter, Patsy Nix, Sandra Lancaster, Vivian Moss, Katie Dalton. FOURTH ROW: Donald Dalton, Michael Pressley, James Hemphill, Mary Zulick, Rosemary Underwood. FIFTH ROW: Mrs. Burley, Sponsor; Mickey Wilson, Marilyn Lyda, Roseann Maxwell, Diane Stepp, Ruby Dalton.



Heading for their next class, Key Clubbers Charles Frye and Taylor Davis are anxious to see if "things really go better with Coke."

The presentation of a check by Key Club president David Thompson marks "finis" to scoreclock debt.

Johnny and David anticipate future profits as they prepare to "keep shop".

Cokes and candy turn "key" to action

The Fall Festival took front-page precedence, as did Marie Lyda and Dwight Gilbert who reigned over the gala festivities.

Appraising the "Quill" with a discerning eye, present and future editors not only evaluate its contents but also reflect upon ideas for improvement.

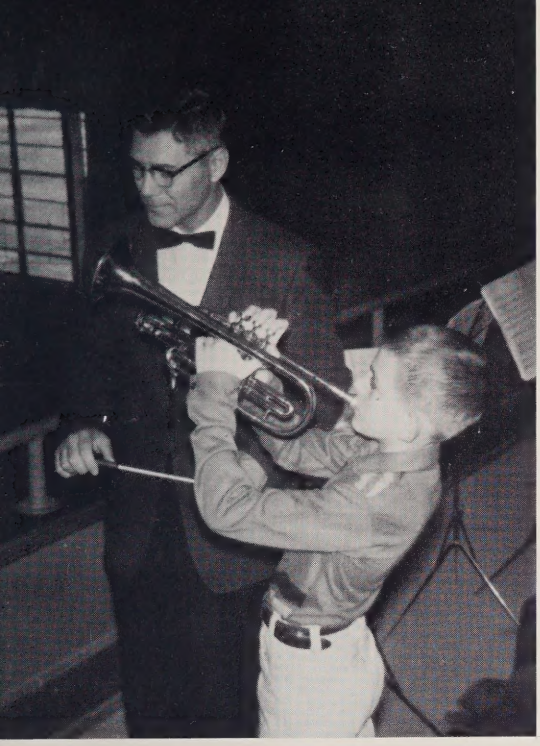
In connection with a school survey on smoking, four students, active in school affairs, present their views in a panel discussion moderated by F.H.A. president Lauren Rogers.

Under the leadership of Mr. Davis, the F.F.A. encourages betterment of the rural community. Hal Stepp, President; Ronnie Shehan, Vice-President; Ansel Pace, Secretary; Arthur Whiteside, Treasurer; Delano Moon, Sentinel; Mr. Davis, Sponsor.

Homemakers and farmers aim for high ideals

Under the direction of Miss Messer the F.H.A. is an integral part of the school and community. Lauren Rogers, President; Sandra Coston, Vice-President; Donna Freeman, Secretary; Elaine Merrell, Treasurer; Rosemary Underwood, Degree Chairman; Vivian Moss, Music and Recreation Chairman; Brenda Lewis, Parliamentarian; Carol Glass, Historian; County F.H.A. officer, Barbara Pryor.



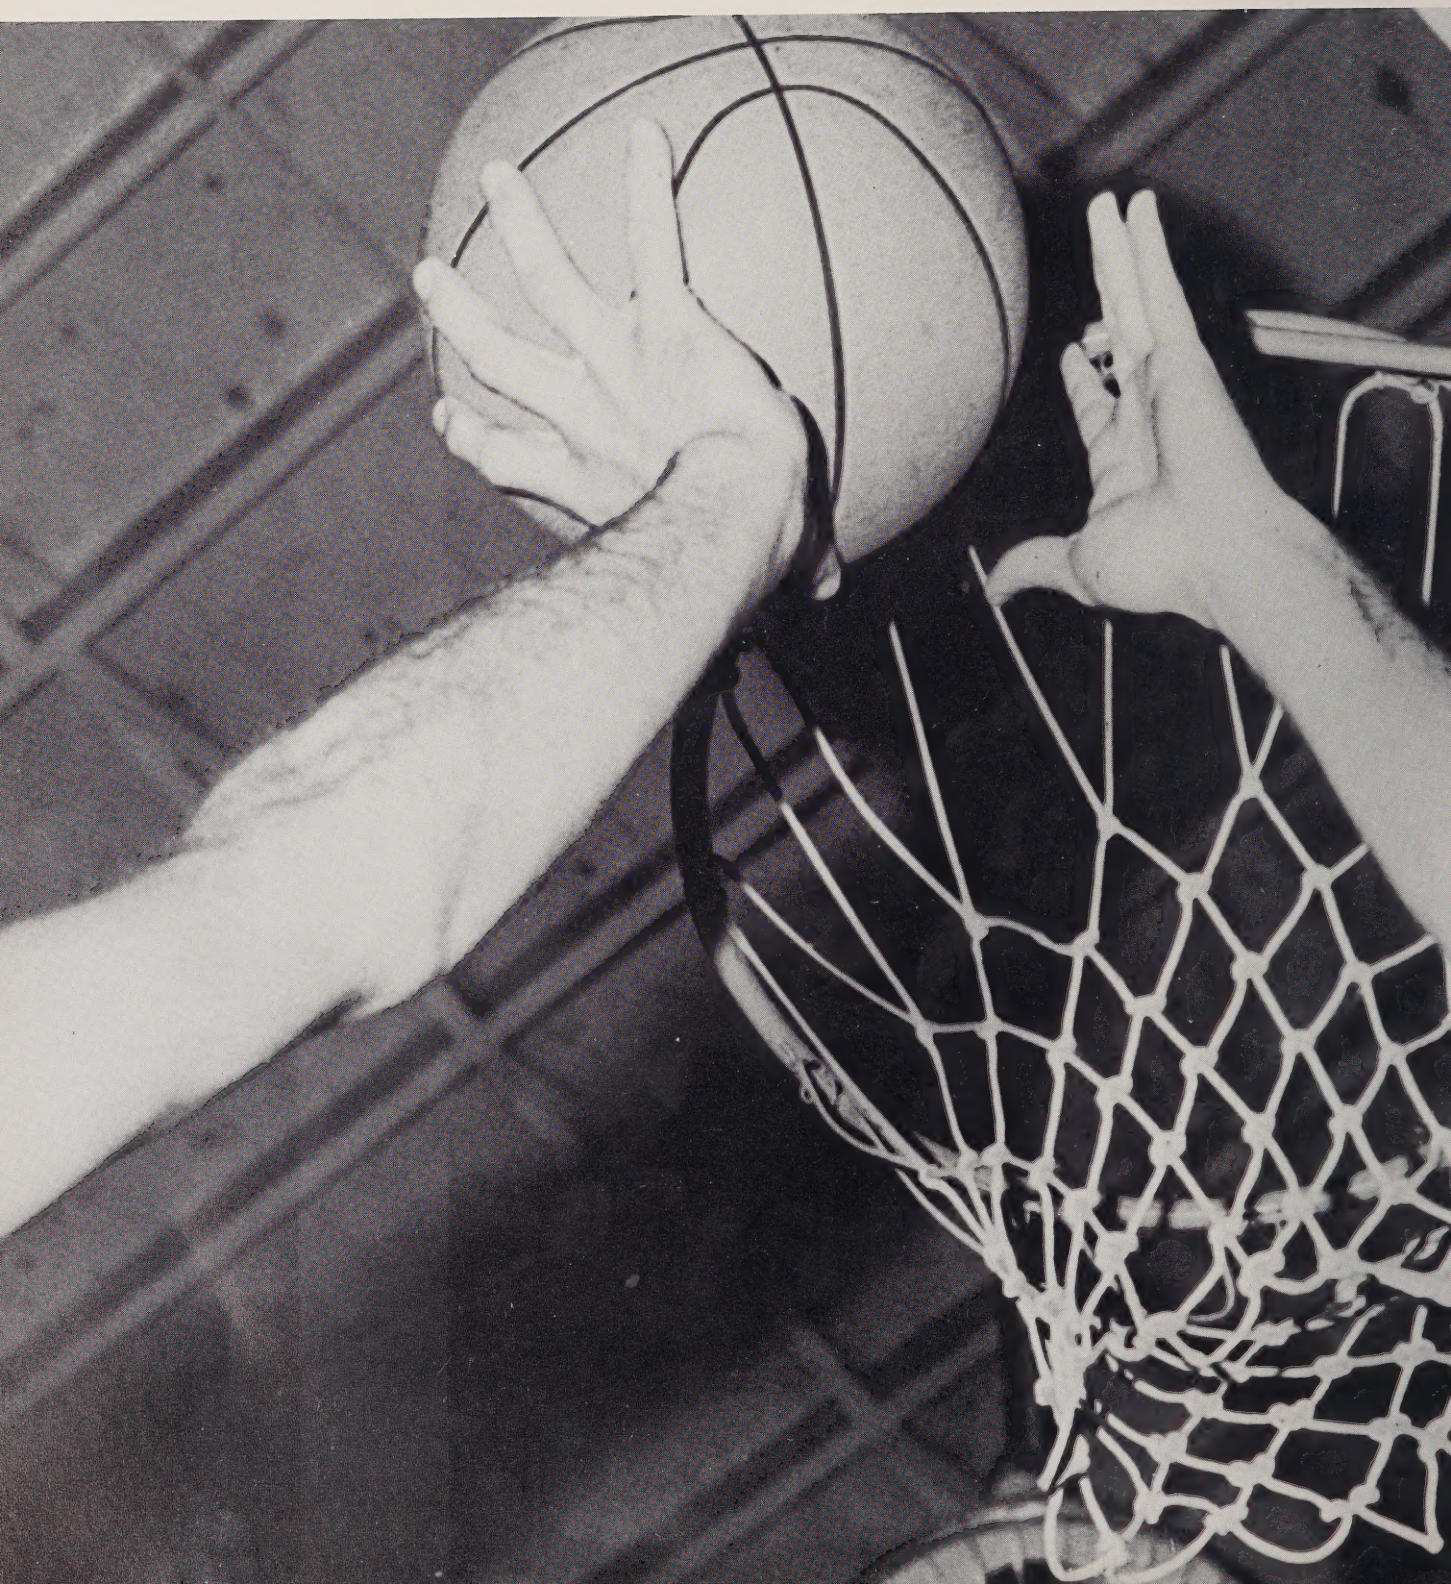
Before "striking up the band," director James Gillespie rehearses an aspiring trumpeter.

The chorus accompanist, Paula Holmes, gives support to Mrs. Burley's direction.

Edneyville musicians are always in demand

Whether performing before a radio audience or a student assembly, the Edneyville High School Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Annie J. Burley, displays true musicianship and superior training.

A KIND OF MAGIC



IN ATHLETICS

Whether crossing the white stripe for that winning touchdown, sinking a jump shot for a coveted two-pointer, hitting a homer with the bases loaded, or exerting the extra effort that breaks the tape at the finish line, Edneyville athletes possess an unwavering spirit and an insurgent desire to win. Encouraging, supporting, and acclaiming, ardent fans share in triumph or defeat while echoes the r e s o u n d i n g reply, "V-I-C-T-O-R-Y! That's the Jackets' battle cry! VICTORY!"

Spurring the team to an 8-2 record, co-coaches Bill Whitmire and Tom Pryor have their moments of anxiety.

Brains, brawn, and bursts of jubilation signal a Homecoming entrance as the Yellow Jackets swarm onto the field.

David Gentry makes the fantastic the commonplace with a ninety-yard run . . . . . TOUCHDOWN!

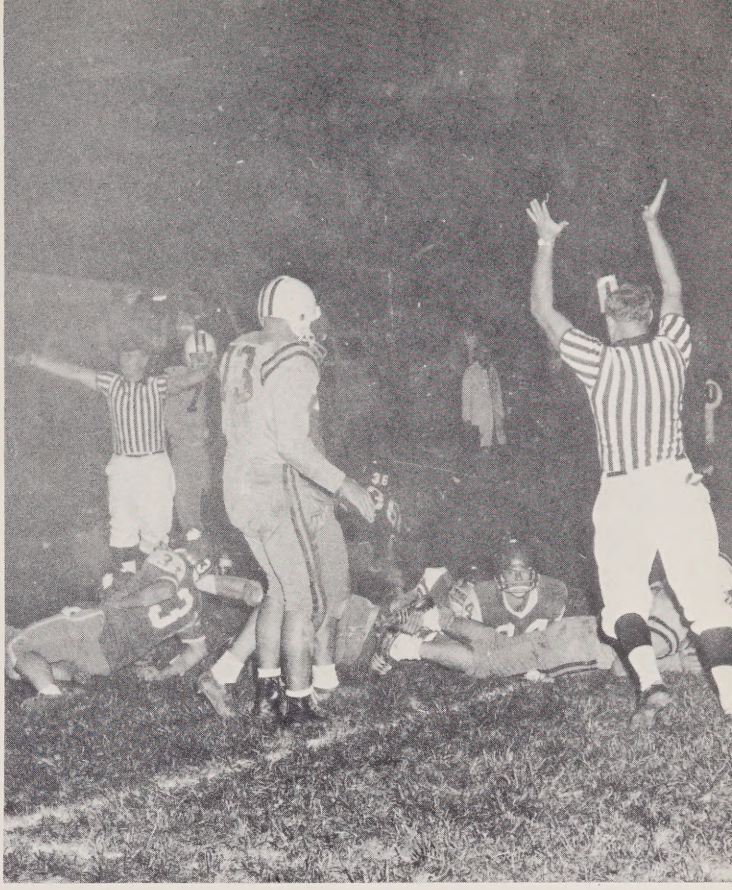
David Gentry, a hard-running and accurate-passing half-back and an all-round athlete, has lengthened the catalog of wins in Edneyville Athletics and has sparked our various teams to swell the trophy cases. Not only is he a Western Carolina All-scholastic halfback, but this four-year man is a title-holder in basketball, baseball, and track.



Edneyville halfback plays mumbley-peg with Bethel defense as Jackets' touchdown shows "The Power of Positive Thinking."

HOMECOMING QUEEN and COURT

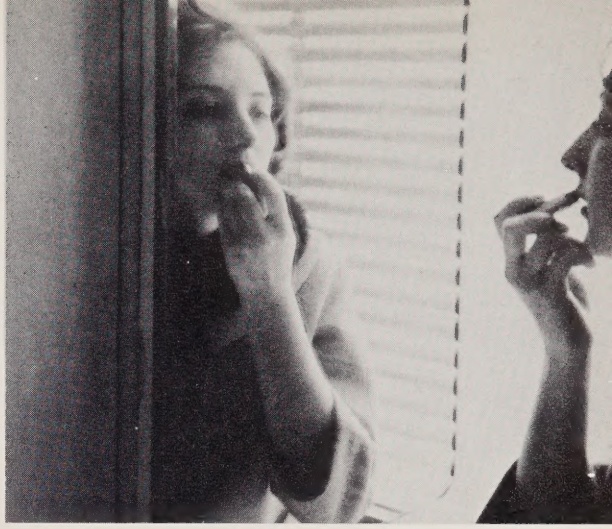
Patiently awaiting the ride onto the field at halftime are our lovely queen and her court.

The climax to halftime ceremonies comes with the crowning of the 1963-'64 Homecoming Queen by Mr. W. J. Nesbitt, Edneyville's principal.

With the conclusion of halftime ceremonies, Sylvia basks amid the warm smiles and congratulations of her admiring attendants.

With a hail and hearty "Fight, team, fight," our enthusiastic cheerleaders add color, vim, and vitality to a Homecoming victory.

A closer look at the reigning royalty is afforded those who come to the annual Homecoming Dance.



Much time and creative art go into the preparation of a Homecoming beauty.

A post-game party is a worthy complement of a Homecoming Victory

It's that finger-snapping, hully-gully time again as E.H.S. students fall into swing with the latest l.p.

A funfilled evening of brawn, beauty, laughter, and music comes to an end with the grand march led by none other than Miss Powell and Tony.

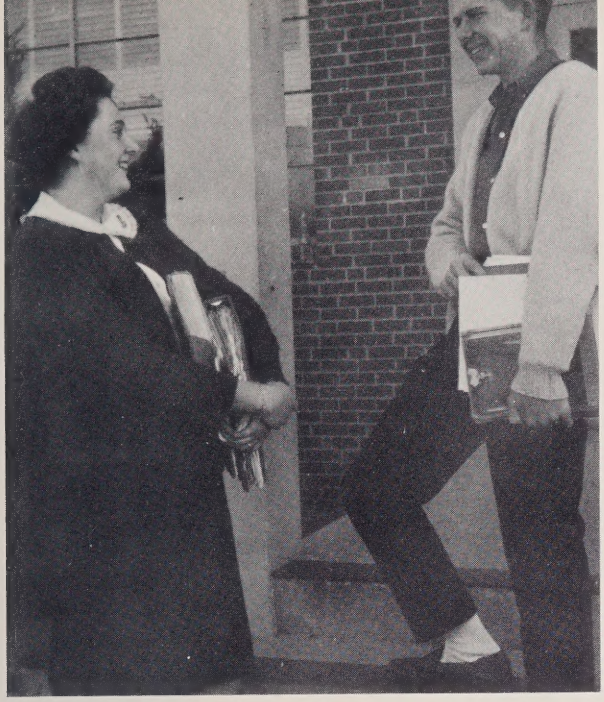
Allen Dunlap's and Mickey Wilson's ability to blow pretty bubbles in the air is just one of the many capabilities and attributes these all-rounded students possess.

Tommy Merrell and Carolyn Jackson know what they want in life, and they have the potentiality and the tenacity of purpose to make a success of it.

SENIOR SPOTLIGHTS

Whether working on the tedious nobody-wants job or in the spotlight of victorious banners, David Thompson and Elaine Merrell show their dependability.

The word "courtesy" must include, even under adverse conditions, the quiet, pleasing manner of Donald Bryant and the sweet disposition of Janice Wilson.



Kenny Pryor and Betty Ballard always display pleasing personality and a sense of humor to please us all.

Phil Corn and Sylvia Taylor possess what it takes to live in the wonderful, wonderful world of popularity.

Who could make our darker moments lighter but our witty Charles Frye and Judy Pittillo?

SENIOR SPOTLIGHTS

In the realm of athletics are Ronnie Shehan, the boy with football's "golden toe", and Jackie Sumner, a staunch supporter of the Physical Fitness Program.

SCHOOL SPIRIT is a many splendored thing!
These two have it.

MEETING THE CHALLENGE

At Boys' State last summer, Allen Dunlap learned the art of getting things done by punctuating his parliamentary procedure with raps of the Senior gavel.

Mickey Wilson's second summer at Western Carolina College Summer Institute for the Superior Student has not only given her a college approach to mathematics and English but, most important of all, has taught this college Pro not to overpack.

Plato's "Music and rhythm find their way into the secret places of the soul," can be said of Paula Holmes who shares her musical talents with school, church, and community.
